) AMERICANS KILLED

inese the Only Foreigners to Have Suffered From Out- law Violence

. . Mexico, Dec. 3.—General . . . gana entered Chihuahua City . . . north last night, according . . . egram received today by Gen- . . . ciseco Gonzales, brigade com- . . . The message was from Gen- Ozuna and was dated Chihuahua . It is officially announced at . . . today that the Carranza . . have reoccupied the city. Tele- . . tried on that count. His con- . was sustained by the court of . . ls, and Governor Whitman three . . granted him a reprieve. On the . . ath of a confession of Erwin . that he, and not Stielow had . . Phelps, supreme Court Justice . granted the condemned man a . . of execution a few hours before . . set for his death in the elec- . chair, but an extraordinary ses- . . the supreme court resulted in . . al to interfere, and the court . . peals later set the week of Dec. . as the time for execution. In the . . King repudiated his con- . . . ith the announcement of commu- . . on of sentence, Governor Whitman . a statement of his reasons for . . .

No other criminal case, where . . ency has been asked, has per- . . ed and distressed me as has this," . . said. "The crime of which the de- . . dant has been convicted is one of . . most atrocious in the history of . state. Two burglars murdered an . . rmed man in his house in the dead . night and added to the hideous- . . s of their offense the murder of a . . useless woman fleeing for her life. . intense feeling against the per- . . rators of the crime in the com- . . nity where it was committed is . . ural and is justified.

I realize that a governor who in- . . res with a judgment of the . . rts of this state without good cause . . imself committing a lawless act. . believe that Stielow is guilty. . haps never in the history of New . . k has a man been afforded great- . opportunity to establish his inno- . . ce, if that be possible. Twelve . . rs and ten judges have passed . . n this case without one dissenting . . nion indicated or expressed. The . . . ation, however, so far as I am able . learn is unprecedented.

Another man, under the sanctity . . n oath, with all the solemnity pos- . . e under the conditions, has con- . . ed that he and not Stielow com- . . ted the crime. There is consider- . . e of detail and circumstance in the . . g confession and in the facts sur- . . nding it as yet unexplained and to . unaccountable. To be sure, the . . g confession has been repudiated . . so has the Stielow confession, . . hout which Stielow could not have . . n convicted. I believe that King's . . fession is a lie.

I cannot escape the conviction, . . vever, in the light of al that has . . n presented to me and which was . . before me when I denied the last . . lication for clemency after I had . . nted three reprieves, that there is . . ossibility, perhaps more than a . . ssibility, that this defendant is not . . .

I think I am doing right in com- . . ting his sentence.

The procedure in the courts has . . n correct. The action of the judg- . . on motions for a new trial has been . . .

The King confession, uncorrobor- . . ated and repudiated by himself, could . . be introduced under our rules of . . idence, but I believe, and I speak . . n years of experience in the trial . . criminal cases, that no jury in this . . . could have convicted Stielow . . murder in the first degree with the . . confession before it."

A Mexican refugee from Chihuahua . . who left the city after its fall to . . claims to have seen a proclama- . . issued there by the bandit chief, . . ance, the refugee said it was . . follows:

Villa called on the people to unite . . n a last against the followers of Car- . . a. In proof of his magnanimity . . cited the case of his old personal . . ds Jose Ynez Salazar, saying that . . leased Salazar from prison dur- . . assault on Chihuahua on Nov. . and gave him a brigade command. . urged the union of members of . . parties to his cause, saying it was . . gainst the Carranza adherents . . refused to repent" that he re- . . ed his wrath. He added that he . . ded all filibusterers from his . . my.

The refugee said Villa made no ref- . . ce to Americans or to the massa- . . at Santa Ysabel or to the Colum- . . raid.

ATHENS CASUALTY LIST

Losses Were About Even in Recent Trouble with Greeks.

London, England, Dec. 3. — A dispatch to Reuter's Telegram company from Athens says that according to General Chiaris, commander of the First Greek army corps, the following casualties resulted from the fighting in the streets of Athens between Greeks and entente troops:

Greeks—Killed, 3 officers and 26 soldiers; wounded, 5 officers, 15 soldiers, 4 marines and 7 civilians.

French—Killed, 2 officers and 15 marines.

Italians—None.

The correspondent adds that Queen Sophie is personaly superintending the care of the allied wounded.

Athens, Greece, Dec. 3, via London, England, Dec. 4. — It is reported that 150 British have been missing since the fighting here. Details as to their whereabouts are lacking.

RUMANIANS MAKING DETERMINED STAND

RUSSIAN REENFORCEMENTS RUSH TO SAVE BUCHAREST

Rumania still holds the center of interest in the world war. The encircling movement of the Teutonic allies continues to draw closer toward her capital, Bucharest, although the Rumanians apparently are stiffening their defense.

The Teutons have crossed the Argechu river west of Bucharest, but both Petrograd and Bucharest assert that southwest of the capital the Russians and Rumanians, fighting together, have forced the retirement of the Teutons and taken prisoners and booty—the latter including 26 guns. The German communication says that in this region a Rumanian force was outflanked and thrown back with heavy casualties.

Hard fighting still continues from the border of Bukowina along Northern Rumania with both sides claiming the advantage.

On none of the other fronts has there been any great infantry activity, the big guns of all the belligerents still doing the greater portion of the work. An attack by the entente forces northwest of Monastir on Saturday was put down with sanguinary losses, according to Berlin. The Italians are claiming an advance of 300 metres over a front of two-thirds of a mile on the Carso sector of the Austro-Italian front, a maneuver which straightened out the Italian line.

The French transport Karnak has been sunk near Malta by a German submarine, according to an announcement of the German admiralty. The transport is said to have been loaded with troops bound for Saloniki.

Owing to the acuteness of the political crisis in Great Britain, Premier Asquith announces that he will advise the King to consent to a reconstruction of the government.

It is semi-officially announced from Petrograd that the Russian premier has read a proclamation in the duma stating that Russia, through agreement with Great Britain, France and Italy, will obtain Constantinople and the Dardanelles, in the event of an entente allied victory.

Unofficial advices from Athens are to the effect that the fighting there between Greeks and entente troops has ceased and that the entente troops have been sent back to Piraeus.

OSBORNE DISPLEASED WITH PENITENTIARY

SAYS NAVAL INSTITUTION IS A DISGRACE TO NATION

Boston, Mass., Dec. 3.—An indication of the report that Thomas Mott Osborne, former warden of Sing Sing prison, will make to Secretary of the Navy Daniels on his investigation of the penitentiary at the Portsmouth, N. H., navy yard was given in an address by Mr. Osborne before the Twentieth Century club today.

Mr. Osborne asserted that the penitentiary seemed to him "absurdly managed" and that the treatment of the men was "the most severe anywhere."

"What is it for?" he asked. "To fit men to return to the navy or to go out in the world?" In either case it is a failure."

"Though it shelters you who have committed no crime in the eyes of the civil authorities, the treatment is the most severe anywhere," Mr. Osborne continued. "When the men return from working on the sea wall in a place where they could not possibly have obtained anything but sand, boulders and seaweed, they are stripped and searched. Portsmouth reminded me of Portland, Eng., where men are searched in that fashion ten times a day.

Pointing out that the superintendent of prisons of New York state had ordered that the former Sing Sing warden should not be permitted to enter any penal institution, Mr. Osborne said:

"So I have to resort to 'kites' that is illicit correspondence in order to keep in touch with the inmates. I have been sending 'kites' and am going to continue to do so."

CONGRESS WILL RESUME LABORS

Railroad Legislation Considered Most Important Matter

WILL RUSH MEASURES

Various Measures Aimed at High Price of Foodstufff Will Be Pressed, Leaders Say

Washington, D. C., Dec. 3.—Speaker Clark and Representative Kitchin, majority leader of the house, assured President Wilson tonight that they would do all they could to hasten the passage of railroad legislation at the short session of congress which begins tomorrow.

The President summoned the house leaders to talk over with them the legislative program and to obtain their co-operation in expediting important measures. Legislation to supplement the Adamson law, he said, was of the utmost importance and he asked that this be given precedence over all other general legislation.

Realizing that three months is a short period for consideration of general measures when appropriation bills also must be passed, the President asked the house leaders if they thought there would be time for enactment of new railroad laws before March 4. Both told him they thought there would be.

Speaker Clark asked the President to help eliminate the usual two weeks' holiday recess.

President Wilson spoke briefly regarding other important measures, among them the Webb bill to permit domestic corporations to maintain collective agencies abroad.

"There is no question," said Representative Kitchin, "that various measures aimed at high prices of food will be pressed. Discussion of that issue is bound to consume time, but in spite of that I think that we can find time for consideration of railroad laws."

Within a few days the President proposes to talk with senate leaders regarding the legislative program but the conference probably will not be held until after he has delivered his address to congress on Tuesday. Senator Kern, the majority leader, has been delayed in reaching Washington, owing to illness, but will arrive tomorrow in time for the opening of the new session. Scores of members of both houses reached Washington today and tonight a full attendance of congress tomorrow is assured. One of the last to arrive was Vice President Marshall.

Although administration leaders are not considering food embargo legislation in their plans, some of the members of congress predicted that there would be a determined fight for some measures to restrain export of foodstuffs. Representative Fitzgerald of New York, Democrat, has given notice that he will advocate an embargo and Representative Farr of Pennsylvania, Republican, announced that he would reintroduce his bill of last session which would authorize the President to prohibit the export, if after investigation he found there was less than a barrel per capita on hand in the country.

The sixty-fourth congress will reconvene at noon tomorrow for its second session, which will end with the life of the present congress on March 4. The administration, although assured of control for four years more in all branches, excepting possibly the house of representatives, has an ambitious legislative program, all of which cannot be crowded into the next three months.

Where the administration is to draw the line on general legislation has not been determined. Party conferences will outline the program to be attempted in addition to the appropriation bills which must be passed to meet expenditures of government for the fiscal year 1917-1918.

When congress adjourned last September, the Democratic senate caucus agreed that the immigration bill, with its oft-vetoed literacy test, would be taken up and passed before consideration of any other legislation. It also had agreed to act on the Owen corrupt practices bill, a measure to limit expenditures in national political campaigns and to provide new penalties for election frauds. Both measures had been pressed at the end of the session, to the embarrassment of both parties, and were abandoned by mutual consent despite the urgent demands of a few members.

Beside those two measures the memorable railroad eight hour day night, which marked the last days of the last session had ended with legislation suggested by President Wilson unconsidered. It will be urged upon the congress by the administration above all other subjects. In fact the joint committee created by congress to investigate the whole subject of railroad problems has been in session two weeks preparing recommendations and it is apparent that this will be the dominating feature of the session.

In view of the probability that the administration is to face a divided sixty-fifth congress or at best a non-dependable plurality in the lower house, it is the hope of Democratic leaders to complete before the March adjournment what remains of a constructive program of reform legislation long ago conceived. All are convinced, however, of the paramount importance of supply bills and these must take precedence, general legislation to be considered whenever time will permit.

Of the supply measures there is again more than usual importance attached to the naval appropriation bill. Hearings already have begun before the house committee. The bill must provide for the second year's construction in the elaborate three-year building program authorized at the last session as part of the administration's plan to strengthen the national defense. There also remain to be acted upon important conservation measures which the President and many members of both legislative branches have been advocating.

Beside those measures President Wilson wants congress to enact the Webb bill to make it legal for American corporations to maintain collective selling agencies for foreign countries. Under terms of the Clayton anti-trust law such agencies would be unlawful. The President was disappointed over failure of the senate to pass the bill in the closing days of the last session and expressed his regrets in a formal statement.

With regard to the national defense there are, beside the regular army, navy and coast defense supply bills, several measures bearing on the military efficiency of the country. Among them is the Chamberlain bill for a modified form of universal military training modelled after the Swiss system. Hearings are to be held by the senate military committee, but action before adjournment seems improbable.

Estimates on the naval bill call for an expenditure next year of approximately $300,000,000 and authorization for construction of three dreadnoughts and at least one battle cruiser to add to the four dreadnoughts and four battle cruisers ordered constructed as soon as possible in the big naval bill of the last session. To keep up with the three year building program provision also should be made for additional scout cruisers, destroyers, fleet and coast submarines and auxiliary ships.

Conservation legislation will be demanded by its champions but whether time will permit is a dubious matter. Water power bills which failed at the last session will be revived. They include the public lands water power bill and the measure to provide for development of water power sites in navigable streams by private capital. There also is pending the Newlands $60,000,000 bill for general development and co-ordinated control of the country's waterways. Measures are pending also for conservation of mineral resources and improved control of flood waters. Other measures left over for which attention will be asked are the Shafroth bill to provide civil government for Porto Rico and the Hoke Smith bill to create a system of vocational education with federal aid throughout the states.

The senate will have three new members to inaugurate when the gavel falls tomorrow. It also must elect a new president pro tempore owing to the death of Senator James P. Clarke of Arkansas. A new majority leader must be elected for the next senate owing to the defeat of Senator Kern of Indiana and there is considerable manoeuvering among Democratic senators for the honor of president pro tempore. Some senators who covet the leadership in the next senate are being urged to accept the vacancy but are reluctant to do so. Among those under consideration are Senators Saulsbury of Delaware; Walsh of Montana; Overman, North Carolina, and Bankhead, Alabama. In the selection the Democrats must take into consideration what is likely to be done with the majority leadership next year. If that is to go to a Southern Democrat—and the successor to Kern most prominently mentioned is Martin of Virginia—the new president pro tempore probably will be chosen from the northern Democrats.

Three new senators who will take their seats tomorrow are James E. Watson, Republican of Indiana, elected in place of Thomas Taggart, Democrat, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Senator Shively; Bert M. Fernald, Republican of Maine, who succeeds Senator Burleigh, deceased, and William F. Kirby, Democrat, of Arkansas, succeeding the late Senator Clarke. The election of Watson reduces the Democratic majority in the senate from 16 to 14, the senate now being composed of 55 Democrats and 41 Republicans. In the new senate the majority will be reduced to 12.

There will be three new members also to take seats in the house. Thomas W. Harrison, Democrat, succeeding James Hay of Virginia; Harry C. Woodyard, Republican of West Virginia, who succeeds Republican Moss, deceased, and Henry S. Benedict, Progressive of California, elected for the short term in place of Republican Stephens, who resigned to become lieutenant governor of his state.

Germans Cross Argechu River.

Berlin, Germany, Dec. 3.—The Austro German forces advancing on Bucharest, have crossed the river Argechu, along which the Rumanians have made a stand, the war office announced today. A Rumanian force which attempted to advance southwest of Bucharest was outflanked and thrown back. The Rumanians and Russians, who began an offensive last week over a long section of the front along the borders of Bukowina and northern Rumania, the statement says, have met further defeats.

Russians Arrive at Bucharest.

Petrograd, Russia, Dec. 3.—Russian troops have arrived on the front south of Bucharest and are engaged in a great battle to save the Rumanian capital, the war office announces. The German and Bulgarian troops south of Bucharest have been compelled to retire. The Russians and Rumanians have taken prisoners and booty, including 26 guns. Further success for the Russians on the Transylvania front also are reported.

BATTLE AGAINST COST OF LIVING

City, State and Federal Forces Begin Active Campaign

COMMITTEES APPOINTED

Boycott of Eggs Will Soon Be Followed By Those of Other Staple Foods

Albany, Dec. 3. — The appointment of a committee of five under the chairmanship of George W. Perkins to investigate the causes of the high cost of living and to recommend such legislation as may result in lower prices of food through economical distribution, was announced by Governor Whitman today.

The other members of the committee are: State Senator Charles W. Wicks of Oneida county, chairman of the legislative committee investigating the dairy industry; Judge George W. Ward, counsel of the Wicks committee; S. J. Lowell, master of the State Grange, and Clifford S. Sims, vice president and general manager of the Delaware and Hudson railroad.

"For years past," Governor Whitman said today, "the increasing cost of living has been a subject of growing importance and has become of first importance to the people of our state. Last year I recommended and secured an increase appropriation for the department of foods and markets.

"The legislature this winter should, it seems to me, take up the whole problem. The problem is difficult and intricate. I have decided to appoint a committee to assist the executive and the legislature in investigating and preparing such recommendations and legislation as may tend to bring about a reduction of the cost of foodstuffs to the consumer through efficient and economic organization without loss in revenue to the producer.

"Mr. Perkins has given considerable time during the past two or three years to a study of the food problem as it relates to the citizens of New York city. He is to a considerable extent already familiar with the question. Mr. Sims is qualified to advise the committee relative to transportation matters, an important element in the problems."

New York, Dec. 3. — An organization of housewives, through which every consumer in this city may be reached "whenever it appears necessary to establish a boycott on articles of food," will be formed by Jan. 1, it was announced tonight by Joseph Hartigan, commissioner of weights and measures.

The plan, Mr. Hartigan said, is to have at least one woman assigned to each of the 12,000 square blocks here, whose duty it will be "to keep in touch with the residents of that block and keep them posted as to the prices of the various articles of food." These women, he added, would work with the retail dealers, as far as possible.

The weights and measures league, an organization numbering approximately 228,000 men, also will work in conjunction with the women, Mr. Hartigan asserted.

In addition to the boycott on eggs, started several days ago, the commissioner announced that he expected within three weeks to begin a boycott on butter. He added that he expected the board of health to co-operate. The latter department he said would begin "a movement to educate the people on the use and abuse of eggs, and another on the use of butter."

George W. Perkins, appointed by Governor Whitman head of a commission to investigate the high cost of living, announced here tonight that he will take up the inquiry promptly. He declared the present methods of food supply are antiquated.

Mr. Perkins said the commissioners probably would confer with him in this city today and that he would do his utmost to initiate a constructive program in co-operation with the governor's ideas and seek more modern lines for economical marketing of food products.

Boston, Dec. 3.—United States District Attorney George W. Anderson, appointed a special assistant to the federal attorney general to take charge of the nation-wide inquiry into the cause of the high prices of foodstuffs, coal and other necessaries, said tonight his investigation was well under way. Hundreds of messages and reports from official and private agencies arrived at his office today and caused him to postpone, until tomorrow at least a trip to New York to confer with authorities in charge of the federal investigation in that city.

The district attorney said that after his visit to New York he would go to Washington, where a general conference would be held between agents of the department of justice and representatives of other government agencies which would co-operate with them.

Still Hope for Archbold.

Tarrytown, Dec. 3.—Hope was expressed by his physician tonight for the recovery of John D. Archbold, president of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey who was operated on ten days ago for appendicitis. It was said he has apparently become no weaker since a blood transfusion operation last Tuesday. The crisis however will not have passed, according to the physicans, for another day.

MILITARY CHIEF APPOINTED

Germans Proceeding With Rumania As They Did In Belgium.

Berlin, Germany, Dec. 3.—"General Tuelff Von Tscheferond Weidenbach has been appointed chief of 'the military administration of Rumania,'" says an official statement issued today which declares: "A large part of Rumania having fallen into the hands of the central powers, an administration for the district has been established.

"Several departments are under the command of General Tuelff. The members of these departments partly belong to others of the central powers. The cultivation of the country will be carried out according to the principles previously established, which, in part, correspond to the necessities of Rumania and are in part on account of the necessities of the central powers, cut off by England, contrary to international law."

CONSTANTINOPLE IS PROMISED TO RUSSIA

AS HER PORTION IF THE ENTENTE ALLIES WIN THE WAR

Petrograd, Russia, Dec. 2, via London, England, Dec. 3.—The semi official news agency says that in the Duma today Premier Trepoff read a proclamation announcing officially that an agreement concluded by Russia, France and Great Britain in 1915 and later approved by Italy, "establishes in definite manner the right of Russia to the straits and Constantinople." Premier Trepoff's announcement is quoted by the news agency as follows:

"For more than a thousand years Russia has been reaching southward for a free outlet on the open sea. This age-long dream, cherished in the hearts of the Russian people is now ready for realization.

"From the beginning of the war, wishing to spare human lives, we and our allies did our utmost to restrain Turkey from mad participation in hostilities. Turkey received assurances, guaranteeing her in exchange for neutrality, the integrity of her territory, and also conferring on her certain advantages. These efforts were vain. Turkey surreptitiously attacked us and thus sealed her own doom.

"We then concluded an agreement with our allies which establishes in the most definite manner the right of Russia to the straits and Constantinople. Russians should know for what they are shedding blood, and in accord with our allies, announcement of this agreement is made today from this tribune."

MISS TEIPER FINISHES GIVING HER TESTIMONY

WILL NOT BE CROSS EXAMINED FOR AT LEAST A WEEK

Buffalo, Dec. 3. — The testimony of Miss Grace Teiper, desired by the lawyers defending her brother, John Edward Teiper, in the trial for the murder of his mother, was finished this morning at her home on Richmond avenue, where she is ill in bed. She was seemingly well recovered from the nervous attack that had seized her and interrupted her testimony on Saturday and she bore the questioning by her brother's lawyers for almost two hours without flinching. When the examination was over, however, she again collapsed and the district attorney said he would make no attempt at cross-examination until a rest of some days had restored her poise. He thought he would not attempt such cross-examination for a week at least.

The examination today almost wholely concerned the administration of Grace Teiper's father's estate, which was left in trust to the mother for the four children. She discussed the loans that were made from the estate by the mother to the son now accused of murder. The girl declared that the family relations with the defendant had been always cordial and that there was no dissension at the supper party in his home the evening of the tragedy.

The stenographer will produce the minutes of the examination of the witness with those of the cross-examination in court when called upon by the defense. No one was present at the examination but the two lawyers, the stenographer and a physician.

The trial is to be continued Monday morning with more testimony from doctors about the behavior of the defendant when accused of the crime, and finger print testimony on which the district attorney intimates he relies strongly.

Osborne Impersonator Caught.

Chicago, Ill., Dec. 3.—Detective headquarters announced tonight that they had arrested a man who has admitted that he represented himself as James W. Osborne, a New York lawyer, in escapades with Miss Rae Tanzer, as a result of which misrepresentation Osborne was sued by her for $50,000 in March, 1915.

Amsterdam, Holland, Dec. 3, via London, England.—A Vienna dispatch from the Zeitung of that city has announced that Emperor Charles has relieved Baron Burian, Austro Hungarian foreign minister of the portfolio of finance which he held temporarily.

STIELOW WILL NOT TAKE CHAIR

Whitman Commutes Sentence to Imprisonment For Life

BELIEVES HIM GUILTY

But Thinks the Alleged King Confession Should Have Some Weight in the Case

Albany, Dec. 3. — The sentence of Charles F. Stielow, condemned to die in the electric chair for the murder of Charles D. Phelps, in March, 1915, was commuted to life imprisonment by Governor Whitman today.

Stielow was convicted of the murder of Phelps, a well to do farmer, and was charged with slaying the latter's housekeeper, Margaret Walcott, but graphic communication from Chihuahua over the federal line has been re-established.

General Gonzales was preparing to leave late today for Chihuahua city with a large command of troops.

Latest reports here are that many Villa followers have been captured and killed. No definite news has been received about Americans but it is believed here that all foreigners except Chinese are safe.

It was announced that Villa has left for Western Chihuahua.

General Murguia, the Carranza commander who has been moving northward from Torreon was also reported to have entered the city today after having defeated the Villa column 30 miles south of Chihuahua city.

No Americans have been killed in Chihuahua city by Villa, according to a private message received here today from that city. The message said the only foreigners to suffer were the Chinese, for whom the bandits showed no mercy. Generals Murguia and Trevino were both in Chihuahua city tonight, it was said.

After entering the city, General Ozuna, the cavalry commander, who had been charging the rebel line at Nombre de Dios and the northern suburb of Chihuahua city, re-established telegraphic communication with the border. He made a brief report to General Gonzales, his superior officer, and then proceeded into the heart of the city on an exploring expedition. He was expected to report again later.

The battle between the forces of General Murguia and the bandits took place Friday. Villa and his staff are said to have gone on special trains toward the west.

Six trains entered Chihuahua city today from the south and were believed here to have carried the remainder of Murguia's column, his field equipment and heavy artillery.

Telegraphic communication has been re-established with Torreon and Mexico City from the Chihuahua state capital. The railroad has been repaired, and trains are operating as far south as Jiminez.

Only meagre details of the fighting have been received. It was believed by Carranza officers here that Villa left Chihuahua city some time yesterday over the Mexico Northwestern railroad, following the two trains of loot which he sent west after capturing the town and looting many of the stores, according to the reports by refugees.

Many of his men were said to have been left behind when the trains left for the Guerrero district, where Villa and many of his bandit leaders have made their homes for years. It was reported that many of the Villa followers, who were left in the city were pardoned by the Carranza officers when it was learned they had been pressed into Villa service and had fought against their will.

WILSON WILL DEVOTE ENERGY TO CONGRESS

WILL SEEK TO SPEED UP PASSAGE OF LEGISLATIVE PROGRAM

Washington, D. C., Dec. 3. — Back from New York after inaugurating the new lighting system for the Statue of Liberty last night, President Wilson today began work preparatory to the opening of congress.

The President has made few general engagements for the week because of his desire to devote himself almost entirely to conferences with congressional leaders. He realizes that there must be speed in handling of appropriation measures if the additional program he will lay before congress Tuesday is to be taken up.

The President probably will accept few of the many invitations now before him to speak in different places.

No final plans have been made for delivering a special message on the high cost of living to congress later in the session, but Mr. Wilson is understood to favor such a step when the opportunity offers.

Tuesday Mr. Wilson will follow his custom of going before congress personally to read his annual message. Wednesday he will entertain William J. Bryan and Mrs. Bryan at lunch in the White House and Thursday night he will give a dinner in honor of Vance C. MacCormack, chairman of the Democratic national committee, to which have been invited members of the Democratic and Progressive campaign committees.

ROUMANIAN INVASION IS ONE OF THE MOST DRAMATIC EPISODES OF THE WAR

Bukharest, Its Flourishing Capital, Known as "Paris of Balkans"—Country Long a "Political Football."

THE collapse of Roumanian military resistance before the onslaughts of the Teutonic war machine is one of the most dramatic episodes in this bloodiest of wars raging in Europe. After waiting for more than a year after the conflict broke out, after weighing its fate in the balance, watching eagerly for the favorable moment to strike, Roumania cast its lot with the entente allies, declaring war on Germany and the central powers on the night of Aug 28. This declaration was immediately followed by the invasion of Transylvania, the Austrian province which Roumania desired to possess.

Three months have passed and Roumania faces the same fate as befell Servia, overrun by the Teutons. The workmen but most of those left to join the armies of the central empires before Roumania entered the war.

At a luncheon General Falkenhayn gave to neutral correspondents he remarked that although nothing in this world is so certain that one dares predict anything with safety, Bukharest will be uncomfortable to be in when the Germans get their guns trained on it.

A Political Football

For a thousand years Roumania was the shuttlecock in the game of political battledore and shuttlecock staged by the rival sovereigns of Europe—Russia, Poland, Hungary, Austria and Turkey, writes H. G. Dwight in the National Geographic Magazine. Once Peter the Great established a protectorate over the Roumanians. Then came Catherine the Great with a plan to annex them to Russia. Austria afraid that such a course meant Russian territorial expansion in a direction that threatened her objected so vehemently that Catherine reconsidered and Moldavia and Wallachia were placed in 1774 under the suzerainty of Turkey.

"In 1861 the two principalities decided to unite under the name of Roumania in accordance with the agreement reached by the powers following the Crimean war. Their autonomy guaranteed the Roumanians selected an army officer, Colonel Alexander Cuza as their prince, who thereupon came into power under the title of Alexander John I, prince of Roumania.

In 1866 the ruling element in Bukharest decided that they wanted a change so they politely invaded the prince's bedroom one night, gave him a certificate of abdication to sign and announced that there was a carriage waiting which would convey him to the station where he was to take the night express to Paris. He obeyed and disappeared from public gaze.

Thereafter a provisional government elected the Count of Flanders, brother to the late King Leopold of Belgium and father of King Albert of the Belgians. But Austria and other powers protested so strenuously that the act was reconsidered and Prince Charles of Hohenzollern was called. He ruled with firmness and discretion until his death just a few weeks after the outbreak of the present vast struggle in Aug ...

They cannot own farm land are denied the right of holding government positions and are prohibited from organizing or controlling stock companies or corporations. Furthermore, although some of them for forty generations have lived in Roumania, they are aliens still under Roumania law.

The persecution however, is economic rather than religious, for the experience of all eastern Europe has been that the Jew under a free competition manages to prosper where others barely exist and so the attempt is made to handicap him.

Roumanian Customs

"The Roumanian peasants have a saying that they must dance on Sunday to keep the creak out of their bones on Monday. Most of the dances are at the public houses—dance halls under the blue sky, as it were—and young and old gather there. The old folks spend the day with the tipple, while the young ones dance. There is very little drinking on any other day of the week, and a tipsy man, except on Sunday, is seldom seen."

"A Roumanian village looks its best in the spring, when nature awakened from the sleep of winter, is green and fresh," says Jonas Howard Gore, an authority on Roumania. "At Easter the cottages have been whitewashed and the doors and window frames freshly painted in bright colors."

officials of the Roumanian government have fled from Bukharest the flourishing capital to the town of Jassy 200 miles to the north and near the Russian border whence they can make their exit into the czar's empire should the necessity arise.

Roumania was for the first year of the war a granary for the rest of Europe. Cereals of all kinds are raised on its productive soil while its production of oil reached into the hundreds of millions of barrels annually. Besides this the country is rich in metals and minerals.

Bukharest, "Paris of Balkans"

Bukharest the capital city of Roumania the main objective of the Teutonic armies of Falkenhayn and Mackensen offers the biggest municipal prize in the Balkans. It is by far the largest city and the finest and richest in that part of the warring world. The "Paris of the Balkans" as Bukharest was called before war cast a damper on the gay spirits of the people, claims a population of about 30-,000, which puts it in a class by itself among Balkan capitals. Athens has less than 200,000 people, Sofia about 100,000 and Belgrade before it was devastated by war had less than 100,000, while Cetinje the Montenegrin capital is but a village of 2,000 folk.

Until Roumania's decision to enter the war brought serious matters uppermost Bukharest was the gayest city in Europe. Large numbers of her citizens had made fortunes out of the war and they were liberal spenders. Originally a small ... all the capitals of the near east. Bukharest has ... to become a Balkan ... and with a fair measure of ... and business ... idences ... hotel ... smallest ... expen... ters and ... plate ...

In no part of Europe do the peasants hold so tenaciously to their distinctive costume as in the uplands of Roumania. It is in fact almost a creed in nationalism and its unifying influence was emphasized some years ago by the late dowager queen known as Carmen Sylva when she put on the native dress."

Roumania proper is a country of 53,-000 square miles with a population of less than 8,000,000. It is thus slightly larger than Pennsylvania although it has half a million fewer people than the Keystone state. She has a population of 141 per square mile as compared with Servia's 137, Greece's 94 and Bulgaria's 108. Her imports amount to $10 per capita as compared to Servia's $7.50, Greece's $7.80 and Bulgaria's $6.75. Her exports per capita amount to $18.42 as compared with $7.63 in the case of Servia, $7.21 in the case of Greece and $7.87 in the case of Bulgaria. She also spends approximately one and a half times as much per capita for governmental purposes as Greece, Servia or Bulgaria in normal times.

Charity's Reward

There is going the rounds of the clubs where certain of the town's physicians and surgeons meet a story of a young doctor who had a number of charity cases. This young doctor as runs the narrative had occasion to visit a woman who was very poor, with several children. He prescribed for her cases and touched by the evident poverty of the family gave the woman $5. "Buy the medicine and use what is left for food," he said kindly going his way. The next day he returned to see how his patient was getting along.

"Mother's doin' fine," said one of the children who met the young doctor at the door. "She took that $5 and ... real doctor ..." Francis ...

POLITICS TAKES JOB FROM A "GIRL COP."

Miss Constance Kopp, formerly known as the "girl cop" of Bergen county, N. J., and more recently as the "demon sheriff," has unpinned the gold medal that marked her as an under sheriff.

The medal, along with the job had been awarded to her by former Sheriff Robert N. Heath. John W. Courter, sworn in recently as sheriff of Bergen county says that he "can't find anything for Miss Kopp to do" and denies that she ever was a real undersheriff. And Miss Kopp says that she will go on wearing her medal where it won't show until such time as the courts shall decide whether she has a job.

Four hundred Bergen county Democrats are protesting with Miss Kopp against leaving her office vacant for the new sheriff to fill. The new civil service rule declares that any such officers who held office for forty-five days previous to the election are eligible to reappointment. Sheriff Courtier asserts that the law doesn't cover Miss Kopp's case.

Mr. Heath appointed two undersheriffs, and it is said that the civil service ruling will recognize only one Thomas E. English, first undersheriff.

NOTHING STRENUOUS IN COLONEL'S TRIP TO SAMOA

Mrs. Roosevelt Will Accompany Her Husband on Voyage to South Sea Island.

Colonel Theodore Roosevelt learned with displeasure that some one had divulged his plan to visit Samoa in the south seas next February and he asserted that he wasn't even sure of going. If he does go, and the prospects are that he will, Mrs. Roosevelt will accompany him, and the journey will include none of the strenuous activities that marked his wanderings in Uganda and up the River of Doubt.

"The trip is planned simply as a rest trip for myself and Mrs. Roosevelt," said the colonel. "It is to be entirely private, and we shall go, if we go, direct to Samoa and shall return after a short stay there."

Colonel Roosevelt insisted that the trip would include no social activities either going or coming. He selected Samoa because it is highly spoken of by physicians as above the average in climate. There are numerous extinct volcanoes to be explored. The colonel may visit the Fiji islands also, which are only a few hundred miles from Samoa and on which there are health springs. In Samoa there are hills of considerable height and a lot of wilderness which might be expected to attract one of the colonel's proclivities.

His first exploring trip into unknown lands was in 1909 when he went into the jungle of East Africa, emerging a year later with many specimens of animal life and much zoological information. In 1913 he went once more at the head of an exploring expedition which entered the Brazilian wilderness.

Wins Endurance Run.

The twenty-four hour 447-mile endurance run, conducted by the New Jersey Automobile and Motor club on November 24 proved to be one of the most gruelling contests of this sort that has been held anywhere in the country for the past ten years. The run started at Newark 2 o'clock, Friday afternoon November 24th and extended over the roughest part of the State of New Jersey through roads made all but impassable by a heavy downpour of rain just previous to the start. Some idea of the strenuous test the cars were put to can be imagined when it is noted that out of sixteen entries but one car, an eight cylinder Oldsmobile made a perfect score.

The run had to be finished in exactly twenty-four hours to the second. All controls had to be made exactly on time and considering the severity of the contest on the cars and driver together with exactness in arrival and departure at controls reflects the greatest credit on the one car which came through without a single demerit.

Mr. Fill who drove this entry used a standard eight-cylinder Oldsmobile which he had previously driven over fourteen thousand miles and entered the contest with no preparation whatever.

JONES sometimes wakes up feeling cross and in consequence, the family know it without his telling them in so many words.

Mrs. Jones attributes it to biliousness and if it doesn't wear off during the day she gives him a dose of liver medicine at night. The next morning he feels better and she gives him coffee for breakfast,—and the next morning,—and the next morning. And in a few days Jones has another spell.

Dear Mrs. Jones means all right, but she doesn't seem to realize that if she didn't give Jones his morning coffee she wouldn't have to give him the liver medicine and Jones would feel all right without both.

Housewives everywhere have found out that Instant Postum takes the place of breakfast coffee perfectly. And that is only one of the reasons why Instant Postum has wholly supplanted the use of coffee on thousands upon thousands of American breakfast tables.

CHILDREN HATE PILLS, CALOMEL AND CASTOR OIL

If cross, feverish, constipated, give "California Syrup of Figs."

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the "dose" mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them.

With our children it's different. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well-founded. Their tender little "insides" are injured by them.

If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing, give only delicious "California Syrup of Figs." Its action is positive, but gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless "fruit laxative" handy; they know children love to take it; that it never fails to clean the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and that a teaspoonful given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. See that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt

FATAL MIDDLE AGE.

Mortality statistics are dry stuff, but they tell interesting stories. They are full of surprises. The strangest thing about them just now is the contrast they show between the health and life chances of the very young and the middle-aged. Our present American civilization, it appears, saves your life when you're a useless baby and then cuts you down at the height of your powers.

Looked at broadly, the mortality records for the last 30 years are cause for deep satisfaction. In the year 1880, in the "registration district" of the United States—about two-thirds of the country in which careful records were kept—the death rate was 19.6 per thousand. In 1900 it was 17.8 per thousand. In 1910 it was down to 15, and in 1912 it was only 13.9 per thousand, still dropping with amazing rapidity. There is a diminution of about 30 per cent in the total death rate in a single generation.

So far, good! But that's only a part of the story. The paradoxical fact is, as Dr. Lewinski-Corwin of the New York Academy of Medicine points out, that "although the average length of life of the people of this country has increased, we do not die older than we used to when the death rate was higher. "The increase in the average duration of life, caused by the decline of the death rate, has failed to prolong the life of those persons who are over 40 years of age" The gain is all in infancy and early youth. The death rate of diseases to which infancy, childhood and adolescence are peculiarly liable, has decreased materially, especially since 1900. The diphtheria death rate has dropped 40 per cent. The death rate from diarrhea and enteritis in children under two years of age has dropped 33 per cent. Typhoid fever and tuberculosis are far less fatal to the young. But it is a baffling fact that this seems to give us no net gain, in an economical sense. Our babies are saved, to die when they grow up. They escape the formerly fatal ailments of infancy, to succumb in greater numbers to the degenerative diseases of maturity.

In the same 30 years in which the saving of child life has so materially lowered the general death rate, the mortality among those above 40 has increased at least 20 per cent. Bright's disease, diabetes, apoplexy, cancer, diseases of the blood vessels, etc., take an ever heavier toll. There are various explanations for this. One is that in saving the lives of children who formerly would have died, we preserve weaklings. We go counter to the law of "natural selection." And these children succumb later in life when normal children survive. Another and perhaps better explanation is that "the organism at 40 is what the preceding years have made it," and we are dying off in our forties because of the cumulative strain of hard work and unnatural living. Involved in this reasoning is a criticism of our whole modern industrial system. The masses work unduly hard in unwholesome factories or mines, and live in unhygienic houses, and lack healthful food, clothing and recreation. But it isn't merely the workers who break down in middle age. It's just as much the business and professional men. They, too, feel the strain of "ill adaptation to a changing, exacting and unwholesome environment," which makes them live in crowded cities and constantly overstimulates their nerves.

There are three specific evils, however, according to Dr. Lewinsky-Corwin, that actively promote this middle-age mortality. One is the ignorance of personal hygiene even in its simpler forms, which is found among the masses generally. The second is alcohol, a potent contributor toward "health decadence and life waste." The third is social immorality with its train of destructive diseases. All three are within the control of society. Neglect to deal with them—especially the last, of which our communities have as yet taken no adequate notice—is inexcusable.

The tragic aspect of this death wave that sweeps over us in our forties is the fact that it takes men and women at the beginning of their period of greatest usefulness to society. The Osler theory that we're worthless after 40 has been abandoned. All of our presidents have been over 40, and most of them over 55. Nearly all the big men in the present European war are over 50. Most of the world's great men have done their greatest work after 40. And at 40 most Americans begin to go to pieces.

State Highway Improved.

The section of state highway between Harpersfield Center and Stamford which in places had been upheaved by the frosts of last winter has been repaired and in a very thorough and permanent manner under the supervison of Division Engineer Howard E. Smith of Binghamton. The users of this highway certainly appreciate the prompt attention given to the road. It certainly will be in much better condition for use during the winter and come out better in the spring because of the repairs done this fall.

COMMENTS OF THE PRESS

"Not Yet Fully Awake."

"Not yet fully awake" is the account of England given by Sir William Robertson, chief of the imperial staff, in an appeal for greater war efforts: "There is no doubt whatever of our ability to win the war if only we really put our backs into it. We have not yet done this. We still do not recognize the issues at stake nor the efforts we ought to make." This is no doubt to be taken as an exhortation rather than a criticism; no effort can satisfy a chief of staff till victory is grasped. But there would be room for a settled critic to retort that the effort already made would have accomplished more had it not in such great measure been frittered away by mid leadership. Slowness to recognize the issues at stake and to concentrate power where it would tell decisively upon those issues has been the great handicap of the entente, and England has its full share of responsibility. If the effort which the people willingly made and which British leaders, military and political, squandered in random blows had been available last August for a decisive stroke in Macedonia, the war outlook would now be so altered as hardly to be recognizable. If England is "not yet fully awake" to the blunders by which a great opportunity has been thrown away, and not impossibly the chance of victory compromised, it is awakening, and dissatisfaction is the natural result. There may yet be a protest as in Hungary, where the opposition strenuously demanded "guarantees" that the efforts of the people would not be made fruitless by bad generalship.—[Springfield Republican.

Has His Troubles.

Those who are embittered against President Wilson on account of his re-election should take a look at the U-boat situation, the Mexican situation, the Adamson law and the high-cost-of-living situation and cheer up.—[Kansas City Journal.

A Hunker Thought.

We are wondering whether Mr. Hughes is quite as enthusiastic for woman suffrage as he was before he heard from the woman states.—[Hartford Courant.

The Nub of It.

Doesn't it all come down to this: Mr. Hughes violated the first principles of salesmanship by running down his competitor's goods?—[Independent.

And Only Cost a Nickel.

The telephone is a great thing. It saves many a love-sick young man from putting that stuff down on paper that would lose him a breach-of-promise suit.—[Florida Times-Union.

Not a Blanket Indorsement.

We should say that the president's re-election is a national testimonial to his purposes and his tendencies rather than a blanket indorsement of all his policies, for hundreds of thousands of citizens voted for Mr. Wilson who disagreed emphatically with him in many things that he had done.—[New York World.

WILL DECIDE TODAY.

Stockholders of East Worcester National Bank to Meet.

The future of the East Worcester National bank will be decided, it is expected, at a meeting of the stockholders to be held today at 10:30 o'clock. The directors of the bank held a meeting on Saturday, but no definite action was taken and no recommendation will be made to the stockholders. The bank examiner is still in charge of the affairs of the institution and so far as can be learned he has made no definite announcement as to the exact status of the bank's affairs and in some quarters doubt is expressed if he has as yet been able to determine the exact condition of the bank's affairs.

The situation is not reassuring and those who are familiar with the situation believe that the bank will liquidate.

Loses Suit Against U. & D.

A verdict of "no cause of action" was rendered after considerable deliberation by the jury in the case of Mrs. Maud M. Ryder against the Ulster & Delaware Railroad company in supreme court before Justice Hasbrouck at Catskill, Wednesday morning.

Mrs. Ryder testified to the accident she is alleged to have suffered in falling from the car at Haines Falls. On the day of the accident she boarded the train at Kingston and in leaving it at Haines Falls failed to notice a quantity of hard or frozen snow on the top step, a Mr. Baldwin, who was carrying her grip, being in front and obstructing her view. She testified to slipping and falling down the steps to the platform, thereby injuring her back and incapacitating her for work.

A Platinum Expert.

Judge I. R. Buckley of New York, who has been active in promoting a trolley road from Oneonta to Sherman Lake and thence to Charlottesville and perhaps beyond, which is still being considered is now actively engaged in promoting a new smelter project at Newark, N. J., for the purpose of extracting platinum from ores. He expects to subject the ores to a temperature of 4,000 to 6,000 degrees Platinum is worth twice as much as gold and he hopes to make a fortune.

Pleased with California.

In a note to this office relative to the address of the paper forwarded to Hon. D. Schuil Bassett, who, with his wife is spending the winter at Pasadena, Cal., adds: "This is a wonderful place and as I am writing at 3:30 p. m. it would be too warm to work with comfort in the sun, but when the sun goes down a little fire is acceptable. Flowers and birds are everywhere and everyone seems sunny and happy and we with the rest."

PROBLEMS OF IMMIGRATION.

Dr. C. S. Pendleton Delivers Interesting Illustrated Lecture on Vital Question.

Last evening, before a congregation that nearly filled the Free Baptist church, Dr. C. S. Pendleton delivered a most interesting lecture on "Immigration," with particular emphasis on the problems and duties which face Christianized America in assimilating this vast throng of strange tongued people.

While the underlying principles of immigration were dealt with so as to include all nations and races, the application was made more especially to the newer phases of the subject in the United States, the older immigrants from Germany, Scandanavia and Great Britain being considered an integral part of our body politic.

In opening his lecture Dr. Pendleton summarized the philosophy of immigration, referring to the habits and influences of the races and to the fact that America has been made by immigration but that the process is still going on. With the aid of the stereopticon many views were thrown on the screen showing the background of immigration,—the scenes and haunts with which our newcomers are familiar—and numerous other slides illustrating the character and costume of our foreign born folk.

Dr. Pendleton then outlined some of the causes and contributing influences for immigration, the more important of which were religious and political unrest, relatively dense population economic conditions and the lure of American opportunity. He summarized the history of American immigration, from the beginning in 1620 to the present time, emphasizing the special characteristics of each period.

The fourth part of his lecture dealt with the problems created by this vast influx of foreign born men and women, their distribution among the cities and farm lands of our nation, their employment and standards of living, and their assimilation into our democracy.

The missionary aspects of the problem were treated last, and illustrated with a wealth of views. Dr. Pendleton told of the devoted men and women who are laboring to inculcate in these strangers the principles of Christianity and liberty, and with other slides he showed the marvelous transformations which are brought about by a little kindness and interest shown to those who are taught to understand our ways.

James O'Neil General Foreman.

Prior to his appointment at Colonie Mr. O'Neil was foreman of the steel car shop when Edwin Jones was general foreman here.

Your Newspaper Cost

Your newspaper service is the cheapest necessity you buy. The advertising costs through the daily newspaper is the cheapest manner in which to reach customers.

This has all been effected by a wonderful world-wide organization and system, by which the public benefit, and an efficiency not known to any other industry.

Newspapers which have all experienced enormous increases in publishing costs of their own, are being subjected to prohibitive paper prices and exactions many times the increased cost of manufacturing paper.

The Press is doing its utmost to maintain its service to the public, without passing on these extortions, but expect that at least two thousand newspapers will be forced out of business next year and most of the others will show deficits.

The situation is extremely serious, for the Publisher and the Public.

ELKS' MEMORIAL SERVICE

Impressive Ceremonies in Honor of Departed Members of the Fraternity.

"To Our Absent Brothers"—the 11 o'clock toast of all Elkdom—was the keynote of the memorial services held in the Oneonta theatre Sunday afternoon under the auspices of Oneonta lodge, No. 1312, and throughout the ceremonies there seemed to breathe the quiet thought of solemn reflection over the memory of those brothers who had reported to the Exalted Ruler of the Universe.

Nearly every available seat in the theatre was filled at 2:30 o'clock, when a hundred and sixty members of Oneonta lodge marched from the club house to the theatre and took their places in the front rows of the theatre, while Gardner's orchestra played an introductory march.

After the opening ceremonies by the officers of the lodge, Chaplain L. C. Nichols offered prayer, after which the double quartet sang, "Softly Now the Light of Day." The young men comprising the quartet were Messrs. J. J. Gessner, B. H. Chesbro, A. N. Coy, V. E. Graves, G. A. Daly, L. L. Kenny, George J. Clute and R. D. Miller. The second part of the opening ceremonies were then performed by the officers of the lodge, following which the quartet sang, "The Vacant Chair," the hymn most dear to all Elks.

As the roll was called there was found to be missing one brother—George W. Mulford of Unadilla, and a eulogy of rare merit was thereupon delivered by Judge N. P. Willis, a man who had known the departed brother intimately for a score of years, and who could speak from the heart of the qualities of the missing one. George Daly, in his sympathetic baritone voice then sang, "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere," and this was followed by another section of the ceremonies, after which Brother DeForest Ingerham rendered a violin solo in the faultless manner which stamps him a master of the most wonderful of all musical instruments.

Rev. Leslie C. Nichols, chaplain of the lodge, delivered the memorial address which was a worthy successor to his previous sermons in the same capacity. He spoke of the one big influence in the world which brightens all—love—and admonished his brothers to write the mistakes of men on the sands, but to inscribe their good deeds on the tablets of memory. For 20 minutes he spoke of the virtues toward which all true Elks are pressing, and held the closest attention of every listener by the beauty of his expression.

Miss Katherine Carless, who needed no introduction to an Oneonta audience, then sang, "Abide With Me," in her wonderfully clear soprano voice, and this was followed by the "Elks' Toast," recited by Past Exalted Ruler Howard W. Fluhrer. The male quartet gave another selection, "Holy, Holy, Holy," and the closing ceremonies were given, the entire lodge and friends uniting in "Auld Lang Syne." Chaplain Nichols pronounced the benediction. Miss Ethel Rowe was accompanist for the various musical selections.

THE MELTING POT.

Israel Zangwill's Great Play to Appear In Lecture Course December 7.

Probably many people who have used the well worn expression which is the subject of this article have not realized whence the expression originated. While all true Americans have realized that our country has done a universal service in welcoming the oppressed of all lands to the equality of opportunity which the new world affords, it was left for Israel Zangwill to produce a great American drama in which our land is symbolized as the "Melting Pot" of the world. Into this crucible refugees from all parts of the earth, men and women oppressed by the arbitrary dictum of crime, caste, and racial prejudice are poured to be fused and blended into the sterling gold of a broader, nobler humanity.

The Redpath Lyceum bureau, well known to our citizens by reason of its successful Chautauquas, has secured producing rights of this great play and through their kindly offices the Normal and Public schools are enabled to bring this unique attraction to this city in the lecture and musical course.

Holders of season tickets are already anticipating the coming of this unusual event, but scores of others, interested in high-class dramatic entertainment, will welcome the announcement that the "Melting Pot" is to be given at the High school auditorium Thursday evening, December 7, by a remarkably strong cast of accomplished and experienced actors. "No play," writes the management of the New York office, "ever presented for the Lyceum, has had such a strong cast of players."

The local management is under unusual expense in bringing this superior company to the High school platform and invites the co-operation of those who enjoy high-grade dramatic productions.

STRAND THEATRE TODAY.

Frank Sheridan in "The Struggle," a Virile Drama of Camp Life.

The attraction at the Strand theatre today will be "The Struggle," starring Frank Sheridan with Arthur Ashley and Ethel Grey Terry. The Struggle is a story of conflicting emotions, of the pitiless struggle between two friends and the unremitting intrigues of a woman desperately in love. An extra reel of fine entertainment will complete today's program.

RED CROSS SEAL SALE OPENS.

On Sale at Various Business Places in the City.

The shipment of Red Cross Christmas seals has arrived and they are now on sale in the drug stores of George S. Slade, E. E. Scatchard, Albert Hutson, Inc., Dickson Bros., H. B. Gildersleeve and Marsh, the druggist, and also at the cigar and news stands of A. O. Ingerham and Ingerham Bros. The large part of the proceeds of the sale of these stamps is devoted to relief work for those suffering from tuberculosis in this city and county and it is a cause which should appeal to all citizens at this time of year.

Here are some of the ways in which the proceds of the sale may be used:

(1) Tuberculosis patients who are in need of food, clothing, sanatorium care or other necessities may be relieved.

(2) Visiting nurse may be engaged to go out to the homes of the poor and give instruction and advice on the treatment and prevention of tuberculosis. She is a most valuable educational and preventive agency.

(3) A special campaign for a city or county hospital may be carried on, and the community be thereby induced to assume its share of the tuberculosis burden. Thus your money is multiplied manyfold.

(4) A dispensary may be maintained where patients and their families may call for free advice and examination.

(5) Open air schools and fresh air classes may be started, where boys and girls who have tuberculosis or are threatened with it may be built up in body and mind.

(6) Educational work may be done to show the entire community, men, women and women, that tuberculosis can be cured and prevented.

Every Red Cross seal is a bullet in the fight against tuberculosis.

TO BURN CHURCH MORTGAGE.

First Baptist Society Is Now Free from Debt.

Pastor Farley at the First Baptist church yesterday announced that for the first time since the new church edifice was erected in 1902 the society is free from debt and that the event would be fittingly celebrated with a special service to be held at the church on Friday evening next at 7:30 o'clock.

The exercises will consist of addresses and special music numbers to be followed by the burning of the mortgage recently paid. A full report of the moneys received and expended during the building of the church will be made. After the service a social hour will follow with refreshments served. All members and friends of the society are cordially invited to attend.

"THE NATURAL LAW" TODAY.

Champlin Comedy Company to Present Unconventional Story at Theatre.

"The Natural Law," which will be presented this afternoon and evening at the Oneonta theatre, created wide discussion throughout the east last spring and enjoyed a four months' run at the Republic theatre, New York.

"The Natural Law" tells an unconventional story in a strikingly original manner. The heroine is Ruth Stanley, a young artist, who is engaged to be married to a physician, but who, during the latter's absence in the west, meets and is infatuated by a young athlete, Jack Bowling, with whom she is thrown in constant contact while executing a commission for his portrait.

When the physician returns Ruth frankly tells him that she has been strangely attracted to the younger man. The physician pleads with the girl not to allow her soul to be dominated by her senses. But the plea is of no avail, for already Ruth feels the irresistible call of the Natural Law, and both she and Bowling are swept over the precipice of convention.

In the third act there is a dramatic conflict between the physician and Bowling, both of whom are now determined to win Ruth's hand. In a striking way Mr. Sommers solves all the problems which he has set forth in his remarkable play and the solution is impressive both in its sincerity and logic. This play is presented by the Champlin Comedy company in its fullest detail.

FLOOD STATUE OF LIBERTY IN LIGHT

Will Be Visible Far In Atlantic Ocean.

CEREMONY AT REDEDICATION

Many Notable Men In Attendance When Electric Lighting System For Famous Statue Is First Applied on Night of Dec. 2—American People Contributed to Lighting Fund.

The statue of Liberty, in New York harbor, was thirty years old Oct. 28. On that day subscriptions of the American people to flood light the statue were closed with what has been termed "Liberty day" collections throughout the United States.

With this fund it has been arranged to permanently flood light this gift of 400,000 French people to the people of America so that at night it may be seen far out upon the Atlantic.

The night of Saturday, Dec. 2, was fixed for the rededication of the statue as "Liberty enlightening the world." These words were first used by Auguste Bartholdi, the illustrious French sculptor, when he placed the statue in 210 cases aboard the French warship Isere in April, 1885.

The work of installing the flood lighting apparatus is now completed. Electrical engineers have stretched a transmission cable from the New Jersey shore to Bedloe's island, which will carry current to light up the hundreds of great reflectors required to evenly illuminate all sides of the immense statue and its base, which covers nearly an acre of ground.

It was planned to have President Wilson touch the button. Members of the cabinet, governors, distinguished members of the diplomatic corps and noted civil and industrial men promised to be present. Ex-Senator Chauncey M. Depew who, with President Grover Cleveland, attended the unveiling thirty years ago, was to make one of the addresses of the evening. The entire Atlantic fleet in New York harbor on that night was scheduled to participate.

The statue weighs 450,000 pounds or 225 tons. The bronze alone weighs 200,000 pounds. Forty persons can stand comfortably inside the head. The torch will hold twelve persons.

The immensity of the lighting problem may be appreciated only by close view of the statue, the dimensions of which are:

	Ft.	In.
Height from base to torch	151	1
Foundation of pedestal to torch	305	6
Heel to top of head	111	6

History of the Statue of Liberty.

1874—Franco-American union established in Paris to undertake construction of statue "Liberty Enlightening the World."

1875—Auguste Bartholdi, illustrious French sculptor, made the first small model of the proposed statue.

1876—Hand of the statue, sixteen feet long, completed and displayed at Centennial exhibit in Philadelphia.

1877—Congress fixes site either on Governors or Bedloe island, leaving the choice to be made by General W. T. Sherman, who confirmed Bartholdi's selection of Bedloe.

1880—Entire statue completed.

1881 — "Liberty Enlightening the World" mounted in Paris.

1884—Statue formally presented to the United States on July 4 by M. de Lesseps and accepted by L. P. Morton, United States minister.

1885—Statue taken apart and brought to the United States in 210 cases on board the French man-of-war Isere.

1885—New York World in four months raised over $100,000 in contributions from 120,000 patriotic American citizens to provide pedestal for statue.

1886.—On Oct. 28 President Grover Cleveland, members of the cabinet, governors of many states and distinguished members of the diplomatic corps, besides a delegation from France, headed by M. Bartholdi, Count de Lesseps and Admiral Jaures, dedicated the statue. These exercises were accompanied by a great procession through New York streets and a naval parade in the harbor.

1916.—Congress authorizes flood lighting of the statue and by a special act agrees to maintain this lighting provided $30,000 is raised to install it.

1916.—Oct. 28, the thirtieth anniversary of the dedication of the statue, fixed as the final day upon which contributions would be received from American people to flood light the statue.

1916.—Dec. 2 "Statue of Liberty Enlightening the World" permanently flood lighted for the first time, with President Wilson officiating at notable ceremonies appropriate to the inauguration of America's electrical week, which begins that day.

COLOR BLINDNESS.

The Incident That Opened John Dalton's Eyes to His Affliction.

John Dalton, the famous English chemist and natural philosopher, without whose discovery of the laws of chemical combination chemistry as an exact science could hardly exist, was wholly color blind. His knowledge of the fact came about by a happening of the sort which we call chance. On his mother's birthday, when he was a man of twenty-six, he took her a pair of stockings which he had seen in a shop window, labeled, "Silk, the newest fashion."

"Thee hast bought me a pair of grand hose, John," said the mother, "but what made thee fancy such a bright color? Why, I can never show myself at meeting in them."

John was much disconcerted, but he told her that he considered the stockings to be of a very proper go to meeting color, as they were a dark bluish drab.

"Why, they're as red as a cherry, John!" was her astonished reply.

Neither he nor his brother, Jonathan, could see anything but drab in the stockings, and they rested in the belief that the good wife's eyes were out of order until she, having consulted various neighbors, returned with the verdict, "Varra fine stuff, but uncommon scarlety."

The consequence was that John Dalton became the first to direct the attention of the scientific world to the subject of color blindness.

WILSON TO TAKE OATH OF OFFICE ON SUNDAY

President Decides to Avoid Raising of Questions Which Might Follow Delay.

President Wilson will take the oath of office for his second term on Sunday, March 4, 1917. The oath will then be readministered the following day.

This became known after the state department had examined its records in a search for precedents. The department holds that "there is no interval between the term of one president and the beginning of his successor."

The department also holds that the fact that President Wilson's term will expire on a Sunday will not leave a hiatus in the office until noon of March 5. To obviate the raising of any question, however, Secretary Lansing has decided to advise the president to take the oath on Sunday.

The attitude of the state department is based chiefly on a letter written by Chief Justice John Marshall to John Quincy Adams, then secretary of state, dated Feb. 20, 1821.

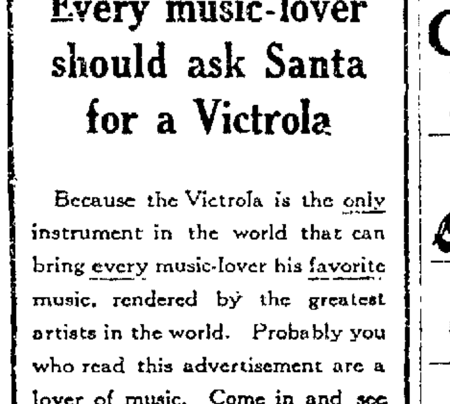

"Blue" Murder.

The curiously free use of the word "blue" in old saws and sayings invented by our ancestors is apt to prove puzzling to us moderns.

Why, for instance, "blue murder?" Why not "red murder," which certainly seems more appropriate?

The explanation is that blue was anciently supposed to be the color of cowardice, and to "shout blue murder," therefore, came to be indicative more of unfounded terror than of real danger.

Similarly a "blue funk" means a state of utter, unreasoning and unreasonable panic, and the expression a "fit of the blues" indicates that the person so suffering is in such depression of spirits that he is inclined to give up weakly the struggle against fate. And everybody knows what "blue" Monday is.

With the right trap—and enough of them—the farmer and his boy can make money all winter. There's plenty of spare time anyway.

Every skunk and muskrat on the farm can be made a source of revenue. The Victor Trap grabs the animal by the leg and holds him tight. His coat is not damaged.

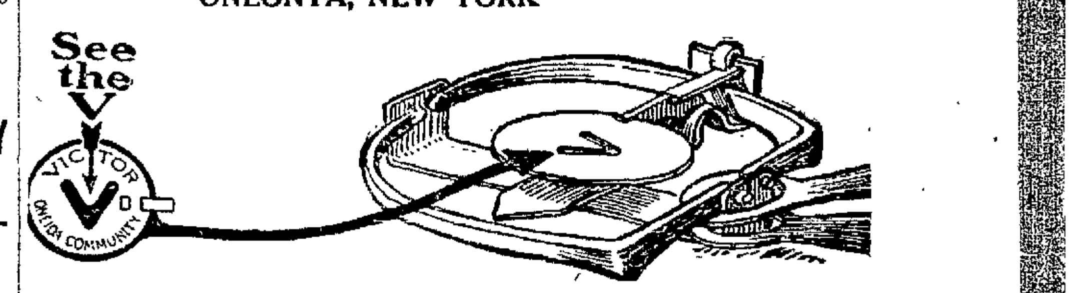

Set the Victors each evening along the creek and every likely spot; the furs are readily salable, an income of two to three hundred dollars from the winter's haul being quite common.

Start with a half dozen Victors. (We make a specialty of Victor Traps.) They will pay for themselves—and a good profit besides in your first week of trapping.

FLOOD STATUE OF LIBERTY IN LIGHT

Will Be Visible Far In Atlantic Ocean.

CEREMONY AT REDEDICATION

Many Notable Men In Attendance When Electric Lighting System For Famous Statue Is First Applied on Night of Dec. 2—American People Contributed to Lighting Fund.

The statue of Liberty, in New York harbor, was thirty years old Oct. 28. On that day subscriptions of the American people to flood light the statue were closed with what has been termed "Liberty day" collections throughout the United States.

With this fund it has been arranged to permanently flood light this gift of 400,000 French people to the people of America so that at night it may be seen far out upon the Atlantic.

The night of Saturday, Dec. 2, was fixed for the rededication of the statue as "Liberty enlightening the world." These words were first used by Auguste Bartholdi, the illustrious French sculptor, when he placed the statue in 210 cases aboard the French warship Isere in April, 1885.

The work of installing the flood lighting apparatus is now completed. Electrical engineers have stretched a transmission cable from the New Jersey shore to Bedloe's island, which will carry current to light up the hundreds of great reflectors required to evenly illuminate all sides of the immense statue and its base, which covers nearly an acre of ground.

It was planned to have President Wilson touch the button. Members of the cabinet, governors, distinguished members of the diplomatic corps and noted civil and industrial men promised to be present. Ex-Senator Chauncey M. Depew who, with President Grover Cleveland, attended the unveiling thirty years ago, was to make one of the addresses of the evening. The entire Atlantic fleet in New York harbor on that night was scheduled to participate.

The statue weighs 450,000 pounds or 225 tons. The bronze alone weighs 200,000 pounds. Forty persons can stand comfortably inside the head. The torch will hold twelve persons.

The immensity of the lighting problem may be appreciated only by close view of the statue, the dimensions of which are:

	Ft.	In.
Height from base to torch	151	1
Foundation of pedestal to torch	305	6
Heel to top of head	111	6

History of the Statue of Liberty.

1875—Auguste Bartholdi, illustrious French sculptor, made the first small model of the proposed statue.

1876—Hand of the statue, sixteen feet long, completed and displayed at Centennial exhibit in Philadelphia.

1877—Congress fixes site either on Governors or Bedloe island, leaving the choice to be made by General W. T. Sherman, who confirmed Bartholdi's selection of Bedloe.

1880—Entire statue completed.

1881 — "Liberty Enlightening the World" mounted in Paris.

1884—Statue formally presented to the United States on July 4 by M. de Lesseps and accepted by L. P. Morton, United States minister.

1885—Statue taken apart and brought to the United States in 210 cases on board the French man-of-war Isere.

1885—New York World in four months raised over $100,000 in contributions from 120,000 patriotic American citizens to provide pedestal for statue.

1886.—On Oct. 28 President Grover Cleveland, members of the cabinet, governors of many states and distinguished members of the diplomatic corps, besides a delegation from France, headed by M. Bartholdi, Count de Lesseps and Admiral Jaures, dedicated the statue. These exercises were accompanied by a great procession through New York streets and a naval parade in the harbor.

1916.—Congress authorizes flood lighting of the statue and by a special act agrees to maintain this lighting provided $30,000 is raised to install it.

1916.—Oct. 28, the thirtieth anniversary of the dedication of the statue, fixed as the final day upon which contributions would be received from American people to flood light the statue.

1916.—Dec. 2 "Statue of Liberty Enlightening the World" permanently flood lighted for the first time, with President Wilson officiating at notable ceremonies appropriate to the inauguration of America's electrical week, which begins that day.

COLOR BLINDNESS.

The Incident That Opened John Dalton's Eyes to His Affliction.

John Dalton, the famous English chemist and natural philosopher, without whose discovery of the laws of chemical combination chemistry as an exact science could hardly exist, was wholly color blind. His knowledge of the fact came about by a happening of the sort which we call chance. On his mother's birthday, when he was a man of twenty-six, he took her a pair of stockings which he had seen in a shop window, labeled, "Silk, the newest fashion."

"Thee hast bought me a pair of grand hose, John," said the mother, "but what made thee fancy such a bright color? Why, I can never show myself at meeting in them."

John was much disconcerted, but he told her that he considered the stockings to be of a very proper go to meeting color, as they were a dark bluish drab.

"Why, they're as red as a cherry, John!" was her astonished reply.

Neither he nor his brother, Jonathan, could see anything but drab in the stockings, and they rested in the belief that the good wife's eyes were out of order until she, having consulted various neighbors, returned with the verdict, "Varra fine stuff, but uncommon scarlety."

The consequence was that John Dalton became the first to direct the attention of the scientific world to the subject of color blindness.

WILSON TO TAKE OATH OF OFFICE ON SUNDAY

President Decides to Avoid Raising of Questions Which Might Follow Delay.

President Wilson will take the oath of office for his second term on Sunday, March 4, 1917. The oath will then be readministered the following day.

This became known after the state department had examined its records in a search for precedents. The department holds that "there is no interval between the term of one president and the beginning of his successor."

The department also holds that the fact that President Wilson's term will expire on a Sunday will not leave a hiatus in the office until noon of March 5. To obviate the raising of any question, however, Secretary Lansing has decided to advise the president to take the oath on Sunday.

The attitude of the state department is based chiefly on a letter written by Chief Justice John Marshall to John Quincy Adams, then secretary of state, dated Feb. 20, 1821.

"Blue" Murder.

The curiously free use of the word "blue" in old saws and sayings invented by our ancestors is apt to prove puzzling to us moderns.

Why, for instance, "blue murder?" Why not "red murder," which certainly seems more appropriate?

The explanation is that blue was anciently supposed to be the color of cowardice, and to "shout blue murder," therefore, came to be indicative more of unfounded terror than of real danger.

Similarly a "blue funk" means a state of utter, unreasoning and unreasonable panic, and the expression a "fit of the blues" indicates that the person so suffering is in such depression of spirits that he is inclined to give up weakly the struggle against fate. And everybody knows what "blue" Monday is.

With the right trap—and enough of them—the farmer and his boy can make money all winter. There's plenty of spare time anyway.

Every skunk and muskrat on the farm can be made a source of revenue. The Victor Trap grabs the animal by the leg and holds him tight. His coat is not damaged.

Set the Victors each evening along the creek and every likely spot; the furs are readily salable, an income of two to three hundred dollars from the winter's haul being quite common.

Start with a half dozen Victors. (We make a specialty of Victor Traps.) They will pay for themselves—and a good profit besides in your first week of trapping.

ARMY SANTA CLAUS LETTER.

General Pershing Tells Red Cross What Men Want For Christmas.

The American Red Cross sent a telegram a few days ago to Major General John J. Pershing, U. S. A., commanding the American forces in Mexico, asking him to suggest the articles which the regulars under his command would most appreciate as Christmas gifts from the Red Cross. This reply was received from General Pershing:

"Many thanks for kind offer to contribute Christmas boxes to troops of this command. Men now well supplied with necessaries, but think pipes, tobacco, cigarette papers, cigarettes, matchboxes, pocketknives, small cans of jam, writing materials, novels and handkerchiefs would be acceptable."

Persons desiring to contribute to the Christmas boxes that will go to the soldiers should communicate for further information with the Red Cross New York office, 120 East Twenty-second street.

BOY DOES BICYCLE STUNTS.

Forcing Cobleskill Motorist to Drive Car into Tree to Avoid Accident.

Yesterday, while entering this city on a motor car trip here, J. H. Barlow of Cobleskill encountered a boy on a bicycle near the corner of Main and Maple streets. The boy, so Mr. Barlow thought, speeded up to cut from Maple into Main street ahead of the Barlow car, which was coming down Main toward the business section. The lad no sooner got upon the pavement than he attempted to do stunts and turn in a short circle. Mr. Barlow, finding himself compelled either to hit the boy or a nearby tree, took the latter course, with the result that Mrs. Barlow, who was riding with him, was thrown out, sustaining painful but it is hoped not serious injuries. Some mean wounds on the head and bruises about the body resulted. The boy, as a final climax to his performance, ran into the side of the car, where it stopped. He, however, was not injured and he made away before Mr. Barlow could learn his name.

Mrs. Barlow was taken to the residence of Dr. George J. Dann on Watkins avenue, where Dr. Brinkman dressed her injuries, and she with Mr. Barlow returned to Cobleskill on the evening train. The car, which received a bent axle and a broken radiator in addition to numerous other damages of lesser import, is at the shop of Crippen & Gardner for repairs.

DEATH AT HARTWICK.

Jacob Mickle, Well Known Veteran, Passes Away.

Hartwick, Dec. 3. — Jacob Mickle died at his home here Sunday morning as the result of two shocks sustained during the past week. He was born Dec. 16, 1813, in this township, and practically his whole life was passed here. He leaves a widow, two sons, Daniel and Moyer, both of Hartwick, the latter residing at the old home, also by one daughter, Mrs. Arthur Stevens of Toddsville. The funeral services will be held on Wednesday at 2 o'clock from his late home with Rev. C. M. Adams of the Methodist Episcopal church officiating, and interment in the Hartwick cemetery.

Mr. Mickle was a veteran of the Civil war and a member of the Tenth Provisional cavalry. He served for three terms as commander of H. N. Duroe post, No. 653, G. A. R., (now disbanded) of this village and was well known to many veterans in this section.

"Willys Six" Latest Overland.

A new six-cylinder car of many refinements has just been announced by the Willys-Overland company — the model 88-six, to be known to the automobile world as the "Willys Six."

This latest product of the big Toledo factory is a seven-passenger automobile, with a 45-horsepower motor and a wheel base of 125 inches. It sells for $1,325.

In body, design, and coach work, the Willys six shows numerous distinct departures, although in chassis construction the manufacturers have largely adhered to previous standards.

Undoubtedly the most radical departure is in the body design.

The long wheel base is accentuated by the long straight lines and roll edge of the body, giving the car a pronounced long, low appearance. All doors are perfectly flush, with hinges concealed, and handles inside.

The body is of the fashionable, double cowl type, in which the top line of the front seats merges into the top line of the body. A pleasing harmony is secured by gradually rounded crown fenders and a sloping windshield.

Thanksgiving at the High School.

The regular Friday afternoon exercises given by the grades were last week appropriate for Thanksgiving. Selections by the school orchestra, songs by the school and readings were enjoyable features. An especially interesting part of the program was a procession of Puritan men and women headed by two solemn preachers and followed by some ferocious looking Indian braves. These took their places upon the stage and sang The Doxology. Following this the bugle call was given, sov eral boy scouts entered with the flag and the school gave the salute. "The Star Spangled Banner" was then sung and the flag borne out. A reading, "The Story of the Corn," was given by Miss Thomas and enjoyed by all.

Cantata Much Enjoyed.

The cantata rendered by the quartet and chorus choir of the First Presbyterian church last evening was listened to with keen appreciation by a large congregation and many were heard to voice the wish that more musical evenings of the kind might be held during the winter. The church quartet Miss Norton and Miss Edith Smith, and Messrs. A. N. Coy and William Fay, were assisted by volunteer voices from the congregation, trained for the occasion, and the pipe organ, with Miss Ethel Rowe presiding, was augmented by the violins of the Misses Eggleston and Albert Morris. Particularly pleasing were the vocal solos by Miss Smith and Mr. Coy and the violin solo by DeForest Burnham.

ONEONTA DEFEATS COBLESKILL.

Locals Win at Basketball by Score of 39-6, Outclassing Opponents.

Anticipating a closely contested game the Oneonta High School basketball team had been practicing daily for the basketball game with the Cobleskill High School team on Friday evening last. The game, however, proved one sided, the local winning by a score of 39 to 6, the visitors scoring but one field basket and four from fouls. The locals were in the game every minute and won handily with points to spare. Damaschke was the referee and Slade the scorer.

The score of the game is as follows:

Oneonta	Foul	Field	Totals
Ackert, rf.	0	6	12
Lord, lf.	0	3	6
Thomas, c.	5	5	15
Hamilton, rf.	0	3	6
Woodworth, lg.	0	0	0

Warner, lf.	0	1	2
Springstead, c.	4	0	4
Collins, rg.	0	0	0
Baxter, lg.	0	0	0

The other game resulted in a victory for the High School second team over the Arrows by the score of 15 to 12.

Puss and the Bell.

Cats are certainly not so demonstrative as dogs; but, according to many cat lovers, they are quite as sagacious. Archbishop Whately has recorded that his mother's cat habitually rang the bell whenever it wanted a room door opened. On the first occasion that Pussy made her wish known in this way the family had retired to bed.

"In the middle of the night," says the archbishop, "the parlor bell was rung violently. The sleepers, startled from their repose, proceeded downstairs with poker and tongs to intercept, as they thought, the predatory movements of a burglar. But they were equally surprised to find that the bell was rung by Pussy, who frequently repeated the act whenever she wished to get out of the parlor."—London Spectator.

The Lion Didn't Roar.

It is related that Pinnow, the faithful servant and personal valet of Prince Bismarck, once trod on his master's gouty foot. Instead of swearing at him or even declaring he was a clumsy fool, Bismarck, noticing that Pinnow himself was frightened, said: "Consider yourself honored. No other person, my dear Pinnow, not even the kaiser himself, would have been suffered to tread on my corns."

FOOD SOURING IN STOMACH CAUSES INDIGESTION, GAS

"Pape's Diapepsin" ends all stomach distress in five minutes.

Wonder what upset your stomach—which portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well, don't bother. If your stomach is in a revolt of sour, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented into stubborn lumps; head dizzy and aches; belch gases and acids and eructate undigested food; breath foul, tongue coated—just take a little Pape's Diapepsin and in five minutes you wonder what became of the indigestion and distress.

Millions of men and women today know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diapepsin occasionally keeps this delicate organ regulated and they eat their favorite foods without fear.

If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion; if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless relief is Pape's Diapepsin which costs only fifty cents for a large case at drug stores. It's truly wonderful—it digests food and sets things straight, so gently and easily that it is really astonishing. Please, for your sake, don't go on and on with a weak, disordered stomach; it's so unnecessary

JUDGE KELLOGG HONORED.

Elected Honorary Member of the Phi Sigma Kappa Fraternity.

County Judge Kellogg returned yesterday from Williamstown, Mass., where the previous evening he received the honor of becoming a member of the Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity and received the official pin—the first non-college man to be elected to membership in the fraternity. Judge Kellogg was elected to honorary membership at the annual meeting of the fraternity held in Worcester, Mass., in October last and was called to Williamstown to receive the honor, he speaking at a banquet which followed the initiation. The honor came entirely unsolicited and is in recognition of interest displayed in the welfare of the fraternity since his son became a student at Williams. The fraternity has since passed a resolution that no further selections to honorary membership be made, so that he promises to be the only honorary member. The event at Williams was a very enjoyable one.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. They are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. His efforts to banish it brought out these little olive-colored tablets.

These pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel, but to let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Most headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "foggy" and "heavy." Note how they "clear" clouded brain and how they "perk up" the spirits. 10c and 25c a box. All druggists.
